Immersive Entrance Design Exhibition presented by

GINO MILES

Sculptor Gino Miles (b. 1952) will be creating an impressive installation for the entrances of the 2023 Palm Beach Show using his large-scale sculptures titled "Arches". As patrons enter the Show, they will be immersed into a monumentally sized fabricated stainless steel and bronze visual spanning over 10ft in height.

Working in both monumental and small dimensions since the 1970s, sculptor Gino Miles's work explores a deep, timeless aesthetic connection to the primal spirit of humanity. In minimalistic yet often monumental sculptures, I interweave references to science and natural phenomena with the passage of time. These works invite the viewer to look beyond the traditional constraints of form, composition, and space into a deeper world of possibility.

The weightless appearance of Ginos's pieces creates a visual contradiction with heavy metal materials, challenging the fundamentally static nature of sculpture. Many of his pieces are kinetic and can be turned, rotated, or even spun, allowing observers to change their viewpoint. Presenting such mass in motion with seemingly effortless fluidity invites a challenge to the viewer's perception of the sculpture.

Gino Miles's work focuses on elegant minimalism and cleanliness of line and shape, creating a timeless aesthetic. Inspired by the meandering and knotting of morning glory vines, he's fascinated by nature's ability to weave itself so exquisitely into a knot—a symbol of unity and connection.

Mural Installation Unveiling presented by

The Palm Beach Show is excited to welcome local mural artist Sam Weinberger also known as Big Sam Paints who has been commissioned to paint a large-scale mural installation within the restaurant space of the 20th Annual Show as a tribute to our support of our community through the impact of arts and culture.

Named for his absurdly tall stature, Big Sam is best known for his large-scale paintings that explore ideas surrounding growth, optimistic mindfulness, and future. His artwork is inspired by a combination of pop culture, surrealism, cubism, the sublime, and the naturalistic elements of the world in which he lives. Big Sam utilizes the energy of saturated color combinations to speak visual messages, building up the paint with a crosshatch mark making technique.

Sam "Big Sam" Weinberger is best known locally for his recently completed mural titled "Big Optimism" on West Wall of the Palm Beach Show Group's Headquarter offices located on Clematis Street in downtown West Palm Beach. The work was funded and approved through the WPB Downtown Development Authority in partnership with the West Palm Beach Arts & Entertainment District.
