The 2025 show also marked the debut of "design!", a dedicated section on the show floor celebrating modern and contemporary design. Presented by Florida Design Magazine, this highly anticipated addition featured an inspired curation of furniture, accessories, lighting, and statement pieces from leading designers and trendsetters.

design! Exhibitors Included:

- Andrew Libeck
- B. Peterson
- Lilian Gorbachincky Atelier
- Mac Fabrics & Design Center
- Soberon Studio

"Our exhibitors had remarkable interactions with the enthusiastic guests who explored the design! space. The energy was electric, with attendees fully engaged and delighted by this unique addition to the Palm Beach Show. Given the overwhelmingly positive response, several exhibitors have already committed to returning in 2026, eager to build on this year's success," commented Terry Duffy, Publisher of Florida Design Magazine

With stunning booth vignettes and a dynamic showcase of interior design innovation, the design! section seamlessly blended luxury living and fine art, appealing to both seasoned collectors and design enthusiasts.

The Palm Beach Show goes beyond traditional exhibitions by curating immersive, awe-inspiring installations that captivate and engage visitors. This year's featured installations transformed the show floor into a multi-sensory journey, redefining the way guests experience art, design, and creativity.

The 2025 Palm Beach Show featured two breathtaking installations that captivated attendees from the moment they arrived.

The entrance showcase, presented by DeMusson featuring works by Bahraini artist Rashid Al Khalifa, immersed guests in a dynamic display of light and color, reflecting Bahrain's cultural and geographical diversity while bridging traditional Middle Eastern art with modernity. Inside, Venetian artist Anna Paola Cibi debuted The Funny Birds' Secret Garden, an exclusive aviary installation featuring 46 handcrafted Murano glass bird sculptures. Inspired by Venice's natural beauty, the installation reimaged an enchanted aviary, where art and nature blended seamlessly to spark wonder and imagination.

Beyond the visual spectacle, the Palm Beach Show remained a hub for education and industry insights. Attendees had the opportunity to engage with expert-led discussions, designer panels, and artist meet-and-greets, thanks to the Booth Talk Series and interactive programming. These exclusive sessions provided in-depth perspectives on collecting, design trends, and the evolving luxury market.

The 2025 Palm Beach Show was a spectacle of talent and creativity, with numerous exhibitor booths making a lasting impression through their exceptional presentations. From exquisitely crafted jewelry to mesmerizing artworks and rare historical collectibles, each display captivated attendees offering a unique and immersive experience, inviting guests to explore a world of beauty, history, and inspiration at every turn.

For its debut at the fair, Maison Édéenne was thrilled to present its exclusive Beyond Bespoke Jewelry Experience, captivating attendees with its unparalleled craftsmanship. Among the standout pieces sold was this breathtaking summer necklace.

"The show went exceptionally well, though it was overwhelming at times—despite having a large team, we couldn't greet every attendee who walked into our booth. It was truly uplifting to see such a positive and engaged group of visitors. We made some significant sales, including an exceptional pair of silver Scottish pistols to an important local collection, as well as American historical objects and sets of cannons. What stood out the most was the enthusiasm among younger collectors, many of whom made their first purchase at the show. It's exciting to see a new generation starting their own lifetime collections." – William Scollard of William Scollard Antiques

"I had the pleasure of selling to both longtime clients and new collectors who traveled from across the U.S. and Europe. Reconnecting with familiar faces and meeting new buyers made for an incredibly energetic and successful show." - David Brooker Fine Art

Carousel Fine Art had an exceptional showing at the 2025 Palm Beach Show, achieving strong sales across a diverse range of works. Collectors were drawn to the gallery's curated selection, which featured contemporary masterpieces from celebrated artists.

Among the standout sales:

- Caroline Dechamby's This is Not a Rothko ($18,500) and Ideal - Tribute to Basquiat ($33,000) captured the attention of collectors, showcasing her vibrant, modern interpretations of iconic styles.
- Eric Alfaro's works were in high demand, with Ties ($23,500), Birth ($29,000), Pond on Sunset ($12,500), and Young Love ($6,800) resonating with buyers who appreciate his distinctive artistry.
- Mr. Brainwash's signature pop-art style also made an impact, with Express Yourself ($11,500) and Beautiful Girl ($11,500) finding new homes with collectors.

"I have to commend the show organizers for bringing in Taffin and several high-quality art dealers. For us, gold jewelry was in strong demand, with notable sales including several Bulgari pieces and a classic Van Cleef & Arpels Manchette," stated Gus Davis from Camila Deitz Bergeron

When reflecting on their first-time exhibiting experience, Lester Lampert shared, "One of the highlights of the show for us was the unexpected number of Chicago clients who made the trip to see us. It was an incredible opportunity to introduce our unique collections to a new audience while reconnecting with longtime clients. The show beautifully blended past relationships with new opportunities, making it a truly memorable experience."

Renssen Art Gallery made a standout debut at the 2025 Palm Beach Show, achieving strong sales and drawing significant interest in works by Erik Renssen and Picasso.

Inspired by Pablo Picasso, Renssen's art blends figurative tradition with abstraction, reimagining classic themes like portraits, still lifes, and reclining nudes. His vibrant, expressive style and ability to transform everyday subjects into dynamic, contemporary compositions resonated with collectors.

With an overwhelmingly positive response, Renssen Art Gallery's first appearance was a resounding success, solidifying its place in the Palm Beach art scene.

When asked about M.S Rau's return to the show, their team stated, "The Palm Beach Show was an exceptional experience for M.S. Rau. This year, we expanded to two booths, allowing us to showcase an even wider selection of fine art, antiques and jewelry. Our goal was to bring the experience of our 40,000-square-foot New Orleans gallery to the show floor, and based on the incredible response from attendees, we did just that.

"We were delighted to reconnect with longtime friends, meet new collectors and do what we love most, sharing the stories behind our pieces in person. In an increasingly digital world, these face-to-face moments are more valuable than ever, and we're grateful for every one of them."

Among the standout sales from the show:

- The King's Desk – A remarkable royal treasure with lots of secret compartments.
- A monumental bronze artist's proof of the famed Parliament Square bust of Winston Churchill.
- Fine Art Sale Highlights:
 - A stunning landscape by Henry Moret
 - An important masterpiece by André Brasilier
 - A beautiful work by Alfred Sisley, a celebrated Impressionist

"The Palm Beach Show continues to evolve to ignite the fascination of our local clientele by incorporating Florida Design and emphasizing a new focus on the entire home as a work of art driven by contemporary art and the embrace of new mediums. The Steidel Gallery enjoyed another fruitful year of welcoming returning patrons and introducing our latest, vibrant collections to a new wave of collectors in the booming Palm Beach County market. Significant sales included pieces from Art World darling Madeleine Gross, whose paintings on photography transport viewers to dreamy Mediterranean getaways. The design-driven work of Istanbul-based Didem Yagci was a major draw for the gallery as well as the ceramics of Jennifer McCurdy and our own Florida-based Steidel Studio." - Maxwell Chapman, Gallery Director

"The 2025 Palm Beach Show was another great success for us, with 29 pieces sold. Perfectly Palm Beach was by far our biggest seller, resonating strongly with collectors. The event continues to be an incredible platform for showcasing our work, and the Palm Beach Show Group staff was excellent as always—their dedication truly makes a difference," commented Perry Shiller, Fazzino Art by Amazing Animation

"This year's show was truly a spectacle of beauty, but beyond that, we experienced exceptional, highly qualified traffic. There was a strong demand for larger, one-of-a-kind pieces, and we were fortunate to enjoy brisk sales throughout the event. As always, we eagerly anticipate returning to The Palm Beach Jewelry, Art, Antique & Design Show next year. Thank you for hosting such a well-produced and dynamic event—it's an honor to be a part of it!" – Ken Burns, Benchmark of Palm Beach

For those who were unable to visit the fair in-person, producers supplemented the traditional fair with an online 3D virtual exploration of the Show.
